10. The Creation of Man

The creation of man was the most solemn moment in the production of the universe. For man is the head and the heart, the soul and the artist, the very crown of creation. He makes the inanimate and irrational creatures around him vibrate with divine praises, he makes them sing and proclaim the glory of God in the concern of creation. The minerals, the plants and the animals about him, the sun and stars above him, cluster around him and beseech him: "O man, great is God, adore Him."

The Creation of Adam

God commanded the chemical elements of the earth to assemble, "and the Lord God formed man of the slime of the earth" (Gen. 2:7). At the very moment that Adam's body reached the point of full perfection, at that very instant God infused into it a spiritual, immortal soul: "And God breathed into his face the breath of life; and man became a living soul" (Gen. 2:7).

The Human Soul

The soul is the principle of perfection in man. Without it, the eye would be without a gleam, the face without expression, the body without vigor, the faculties of man without movement. It is not depressed by fever, paralyzed by cold, exhausted by heat, consumed by disease. It is active and victorious even in a body broken by suffering or persecution. It radiates forth from the body under the form of intelligence and liberty. Unaffected by matter and indivisible, the soul cannot come from the souls or bodies of the parents. Being spiritual, it cannot come from matter. Being intellectual, it cannot come from animal life. The perfections of the effect cannot exceed the perfections of the cause. It can come only from God who creates it out of nothing: "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth before . . . the dust return into its earth from whence it was, and the spirit return to God who gave it" (Eccles. 12:1, 7). The soul is created at the moment that it is infused into the body - about nine months before the birth of the child. To be continued ...

Appropriate Dress: In obedience and humility to God and charity to neighbor, please be dressed appropriately when attending Holy Mass. Men should be in collared shirts (no T-shirts, graphics etc.) and long trousers. Ladies should be in opaque clothing, not tight-fitting, coming up to the neckline front and back, covering the shoulders and upper arms, skirts coming down below the knee, even when seated. Veiling is welcome.
