Casti Connubii - On Christian Marriage (cont.)
Encyclical of Pope Pius XI December 31, 1930

These thoughts are instilled into men of every class, rich and poor, masters and workers, lettered and unlettered, married and single, the godly and godless, old and young, but for these last, as easiest prey, the worst snares are laid.

Not all the sponsors of these new doctrines are carried to the extremes of unbridled lust; there are those who, striving as it were to ride a middle course, believe nevertheless that something should be conceded in our times as regards certain precepts of the divine and natural law. But these likewise, more or less wittingly, are emissaries of the great enemy who is ever seeking to sow cockle among the wheat. We, therefore, whom the Father has appointed over His field, We who are bound by Our most holy office to take care lest the good seed be choked by the weeds, believe it fitting to apply to Ourselves the most grave words of the Holy Ghost with which the Apostle Paul exhorted his beloved Timothy: "Be thou vigilant . . . Fulfill thy ministry. . . Preach the word, be instant in season, out of season, reprove, entreat, rebuke in all patience and doctrine."

And since, in order that the deceits of the enemy may be avoided, it is necessary first of all that they be laid bare; since much is to be gained by denouncing these fallacies for the sake of the unwary, even though We prefer not to name these iniquities "as becometh saints," yet for the welfare of souls We cannot remain altogether silent.

To begin at the very source of these evils, their basic principle lies in this, that matrimony is repeatedly declared to be not instituted by the Author of nature nor raised by Christ the Lord to the dignity of a true sacrament, but invented by man. Some confidently assert that they have found no evidence of the existence of matrimony in nature or in her laws, but regard it merely as the means of producing life and of gratifying in one way or another a vehement impulse; on the other hand, others recognize that certain beginnings or, as it were, seeds of true wedlock are found in the nature of man since, unless men were bound together by some form of permanent tie, the dignity of husband and wife or the natural end of propagating and rearing the offspring would not receive satisfactory provision. At the same time they maintain that in all beyond this germinal idea matrimony, through various concurrent causes, is invented solely by the mind of man, established solely by his will.

Sun, Oct 28 – The Annual Parish Picnic will take place at Tolleson Park in Smyrna, GA. Food, fun, & games. More details to come.

Confirmation Certificates for all those confirmed in April this year are available for pickup in the vestibule.

Next Sunday – FNE Presentation: The Federation of North American Explorers girls group will be giving a presentation after each Mass on Sunday, Oct. 21. All families are welcome to attend.

Inquirers Class: The priests of the parish are teaching a class for non-Catholics who have questions about the Catholic religion. All non-Catholics are welcome to attend; be they planning to become a Catholic or simply would like to know more about the Faith without making a commitment. The Inquirers Class is every Wednesday at 6:00pm, pausing periodically for seasonal breaks.

The Cry Room is reserved for parents with small children. If you are not a parent with a small child, please do not sit in the cry room during Mass. Please sit in the nave of the church with the rest of the congregation.

Blessed Sacramentals should be treated with reverence. They should not be left abandoned on the blessed items tray. Please do not leave items to be blessed if you will not be able to pick them up by the following Sunday. Any items left more than a week may be reverently disposed of.

No Donated Items are to be left in the narthex, library, social hall, or anywhere on church property as there is limited space in this building. Please take these items to a charity near you.

Mass Intentions: We will not be accepting any more requests until further notice. Please be patient with us as we re-evaluate this process, such that we can make it more accessible to all our parishioners.
